DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This office action is in response to the amendment submitted on 30 June 2008. Claim 8 has been canceled and new claims 19-20 have been added and accordingly claims 1-7 and 9-20 are currently pending. Based on applicant's amendments and arguments the rejection over Kirilishin (US Patent No. 4,234,347) has been overcome.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: The phrase "does not contains" should be -- does not contain --. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-7, 9-18 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, the phrase "does not contains significant amount of alkaline metal oxide" is vague and indefinite as it is unclear as to what is considered a significant amount. The term "significant" is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "significant" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention.

In claim 20 the preamble is inconsistent with claim 19 as claim 19 is not drawn to a method.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1-7 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japanese Patent Specification No. JP2001-003034 for the reasons set forth in the previous office action and which are herein incorporated by reference.

Applicant argues that the composition does not indicate that it has pozzolanic activity nor that it can be mixed with cement to improve its cementitious characteristics. Further applicant argues that since the composition of the reference indicates that the silica material is mixed with an alkali metal or alkaline earth metal compound it would have significant amounts of alkaline metal oxides.

To these arguments the examiner respectfully disagrees as applicant has not shown that the composition of the reference does not possess pozzolanic activity. As for the argument that the reference does not recite that it can be mixed with cement to improve its cementitious characteristics, this argument is not commensurate in scope with what is recited in the instant claims as the instant claims recite nothing about being mixed with cement. With respect to applicant's arguments that since the composition of the reference indicates that the silica material is mixed with an alkali metal or alkaline earth metal compound it would have significant amounts of alkaline metal oxides it should be noted that applicant has not defined what is meant by a significant amount and has not shown any evidence that the composition of the reference would possess a significant amount. It should further be noted that the reference does not require mixing with an alkali metal as it recites that alkaline earth metal compounds may be utilized. Accordingly the instant claims are met by the reference absent evidence showing otherwise.

8. Claims 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Japanese Patent Specification No. JP2001-003034.

The reference was discussed in the previous office action.

The instant claims are believed to be met by the reference. While the reference does not teach the same process it is believed that the resulting product is the same. As stated in MPEP 2113 [R-1] "[E]ven though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process." In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985) (citations omitted). Once a product appearing to be substantially identical is found and a 35 U.S.C. 102/103 rejection is made, the burden shifts to the applicant to show an unobvious difference "The Patent Office bears a lesser burden of proof in making out a case of prima facie obviousness for product-by-process claims because of their peculiar nature" than when a product is claimed in the conventional fashion. In re Fessmann, 489 F.2d 742, 744, 180 USPQ 324, 326 (CCPA 1974). Once the examiner provides a rationale tending to show that the claimed product appears to be the same or similar to that of the prior art, although produced by a different process, the burden shifts to applicant to come forward with evidence establishing an unobvious difference between the claimed product and the prior art product. In re Marosi, 710 F.2d 798, 802, 218 USPQ 289, 292 (Fed. Cir.1983). Accordingly since the resulting product appears to be the same the instant claims are anticipated by and/or rendered obvious by the reference.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 10-18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims and provided that all 112 second paragraph rejections are overcome.

Conclusion

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
